S1. Details on Data Collection and Classification

Identifying conspiracy theory promoting tweets was a multi-step process that involved the following steps:

- i. Choosing a working definition of conspiracy theory
- ii. Choosing specific conspiracy theories that fit the definition
- iii. Choosing a working definition of conspiracy theory promoting
- iv. Collecting tweet data
- v. Developing general classification procedures and rules for addressing issues that arose in specific cases
- vi. Augmenting the research assistant-produced corpus via machine learning

In all of these choices, we were guided by our theory: the Strategic Calculus of Conspiracy Theory Promotion, which highlights the potential of conspiracy theories to mobilize action on the part of believers while simultaneously risking alienation and backlash by others. We describe these choices step-by-step below. For further reference, a full, unedited version of the codebook used by research assistants during the classification process is included at the end of these supplemental materials in section S22.

Choosing a Working Definition of Conspiracy Theory

For a working definition of a conspiracy theory, which can be found on p. 2 of our Codebook, we adopted a definition from Joseph E. Uscinski's work. The definition, which is functionally similar to ones used by other conspiracy theories researchers, can be given as follows:

A secret arrangement between a small group of actors to usurp political or economic power, violate established rights, hide vital secrets, or illicitly cause widespread harm. We define conspiracy theory as a proposed explanation of events that cites as a main causal factor a small group of persons (the conspirators) acting in secret for their own benefit, against the common good

A shorter version with the most important elements of the above definition:

A conspiracy involves a small group of powerful individuals acting in secret for their own benefit and against the common good

From the perspective of the strategic conspiracy theory, this makes sense. The promoter is bringing to light a conspiracy theory that others are trying to keep secret. This small group of powerful individuals has to be opposed, because they're trying to work against the common good. Only by taking action can the conspiracy be thwarted, which requires the support of the individual receiving and believing the CT promoting message.

Following Uscinski and others, we judge whether a particular narrative is a conspiracy theory or not based on these elements. Importantly, the definition says nothing about whether or not the narrative is true. In many cases (e.g., the Watergate Scandal) real life events qualify as a conspiracy theory by this definition. Following this, nowhere in the paper or our process do we make any judgments about the truth content of the conspiracy theories we study.

Choosing Specific Conspiracy Theories that Fit the Definition

Using this definition, the co-authors in spring of 2022 began reading through tweets shared by members of Congress between 2019 and 2020. Some conspiracy theories we had in mind before reading through the tweets (e.g., the Stolen 2020 Election theory). Others we arrived at by going through tweets themselves (e.g., the Vote by Mail Sabotage theory). Still others we were prepared to include in our study (e.g., QAnon) but could not identify enough tweets by members of Congress that clearly promoted the theory to use in our quantitative analysis.

This process produced five conspiracy theories that had all of the required elements, as given by our definition above. Below, we list each and describe the key elements that qualify it as a conspiracy theory based on our working definition.

1. Globalist Puppeteers - Influential and wealthy power-brokers from across the world illicitly manipulate domestic politics in countries like the United States in order to put in place socialist policies and politicians and ultimately move towards an authoritarian one-world government.
 - Small group of powerful individuals – Influential and powerful actors on the world stage (for example, George Soros or Bill Gates), big tech CEOs
 - Actions undertaken in secret against the common good – Paying protestors or undocumented immigrants; spreading misinformation; controlling the media
2. Stolen 2020 Election – Beginning with the onset of the coronavirus pandemic in mid-2020, Democratic operatives developed and successfully executed a plot to manufacture votes for Joe Biden or otherwise manipulate the counting to ensure a Democratic victory regardless of the true will of the electorate.
 - Small group of powerful individuals – The Biden campaign, Democrats in positions of power within the party
 - Actions undertaken in secret against the common good – Hacking voting machines; “dead” voters casting ballots; forge mail-in ballots; rigging or stealing the election

3. Deep State Interference – High level government officials, embedded into the bureaucracy, acted in coordination to prevent the legitimate use of presidential power by President Donald Trump, or lied and manipulated information in order to force an elected president out of power
- Small group of powerful individuals – High ranking government bureaucrats (for example, the CIA officer whose whistle-blower accusations led to the first impeachment trial of Donald Trump) and politicians that conspire with them
 - Actions undertaken in secret against the common good – Undermining, sabotaging, or interfering with President Trump; lying, leaking, or falsifying information
4. Russia-Trump Collusion – During the 2016 presidential election, Donald Trump and/or high-ranking members of his campaign team met and worked with agents of the Russian government to sabotage Hilary Clinton’s chances by producing misinformation, hacking into and leaking emails, and similar nefarious actions.
- Small group of powerful individuals – Vladimir Putin and top members of the Russian government, Donald Trump and high-ranking members of his campaign
 - Actions undertaken in secret against the common good – Hacking emails; meeting in secret; exchanging dirt
5. Vote by Mail Sabotage – In May of 2020, Donald Trump appointed Louis DeJoy as Postmaster General for the express purpose of reducing the United States Postal Service’s ability to process mail-in ballots, a plot that Louis DeJoy was aware of and participated in.
- Small group of powerful individuals – Donald Trump, members of the Trump administration, Louis DeJoy

- Actions undertaken in secret against the common good – Sabotage the USPS; remove mailboxes; subvert the election

As each of these narratives contain the key elements required by our definition to qualify as a conspiracy theory, we next developed a procedure for classifying tweets promoting each.

Choosing a Working Definition of Conspiracy Theory Promoting

To identify which tweets promoted a particular conspiracy theory required a definition of CT promoting. Notably, it is unlikely that every tweet that endorsed a conspiracy theory in some way, shape, or form described the conspiracy theory in its entirety. Given the 280 character limit imposed by Twitter, that would be difficult, impractical, and in many cases unnecessary. When politicians promote a conspiracy theory, most of the time they do not introduce all of the key details. Rather, we believe in most cases these conspiracy theories are pre-existing; the Strategic Calculus of Conspiracy Theory Promotion suggests politicians seek to take advantage of those who already believe or are inclined to believe.

For example, consider the following tweet posted by Rep. Doug Collins on June 3rd, 2020 in response to a tweet by a former U.S. District Attorney decrying attacks against the Black Lives Matter organization:

“@PreetBharara Looks like somebody’s on George Soros’ speed dial. Worried about what the coming investigative powers will turn up?”

The tweet references the claim that foreign billionaire George Soros put into place and coordinated with a set of soft-on-crime prosecutors to aid supposedly destabilizing groups like Black Lives Matter. Notably, specific details of the conspiracy theory are absent from the tweet, but followers who had been repeatedly exposed to claims like these from places like Info Wars, One America News Network, etc. would immediately understand what Collins was referencing. Others less familiar with this particular conspiracy theory might go on to search online for details about George Soros and district attorneys, and uncover the key elements themselves. Both groups, under the Strategic Calculus theory, might then be mobilized to support Collins in various ways. For this reason, these are exactly the types of tweets we want to capture in our classification procedure.

Based on this rationale, we adopted the following definition of Conspiracy Theory Promoting that was communicated to our research assistants. To quote from p. 3 of our Codebook:

By promoting, we mean “give reason to believe or suggest that the conspiracy has merit or should be believed”. For a tweet to be CT promoting, it should allude to an action 1) taken against the common good 2) by a small group of powerful actors and 3) performed covertly, in an attempt to hide or disguise one’s actions. This allusion may be implicit rather than explicit. For example, a tweet suggesting that falsified ballots were used to steal the 2020 election may not directly mention Democrat operatives or the Biden campaign, but if a knowledgeable reader of the tweet would understand that these groups were responsible, it should still be classified as CT promoting.

In the example above, Rep. Collins is suggesting that the former District Attorney was indeed linked to Soros and had something to fear would their actions be brought to light. Thus, by our chosen definition, it should be (and was correctly) classified as Conspiracy Theory Promoting.

Collecting Tweet Data

Following operationalization of our key concepts, we proceeded to collect data from Twitter. First, via a series of online searches we identified all publicly-known Twitter accounts associated with legislators who served in the 116th session of Congress, including campaign, official, and personal accounts. Doing so required cross-referencing various sources, such as information from congress.gov, search engines, and already-existing directories of members' social media handles.

Next, we accessed tweets via Twitter's academic REST API portal. Using the academic.twitterR package in R, we downloaded tweets posted by members of Congress during the timeframe of interest.

We then took a two-step approach to rounding out this dataset with any tweets this query might have missed for one of two reasons: tweets that were subsequently deleted (from accounts that still exist), and tweets from accounts that no longer exist. The question of deleted tweets is important to address, particularly as these deleted tweets may contain a disproportionate number of CT-promoting than tweets that are not subsequently deleted.¹ First, we relied on ProPublica's Politwoops directory of deleted tweets. We joined our corpus of collected tweets with the ProPublica-maintained corpus of since-deleted tweets made by MC accounts. Then, we further refined our dataset by combining it with the pool of tweets from the Members of Congress tweet repository maintained by Litel (2022).

Developing General Classification Procedures and Specific Rules

Based on these definitions and chosen conspiracy theories, we then decided on a general classification procedure for our team of six research assistants (RAs) to follow. Because of the size of our tweet corpus (approximately 1.7 million tweets), it was necessary to limit the number of tweets RAs would be provided to a set of high-probability positives. Through a process of trial and error we developed a list of keywords (such as “Soros” and “Gates” for the Globalist Puppeteers conspiracy) that would return tweets with a substantial likelihood of being conspiracy theory promoting.. This resulted in a set of nearly 10,000 potentially CT-promoting tweets.

1. While the Twitter API's terms of service dictates that users not retain tweets they have downloaded that are subsequently deleted, researchers have noted value in using deleted tweets and outlined ethical and legal considerations to take into account (Maddock, Starbird, and Mason 2015). We take these considerations seriously by using only third party-maintained, publicly available datasets of deleted tweets. Thus we do not use (nor make public in replication data) data that is not already made publicly available by organizations elsewhere.

Using a web app developed specifically for our classification project via Shiny, RAs were shown one of our keyword-identified tweets with the identity of the congressional member not included, to ensure objectivity. Each tweet was to be given a binary classification – Conspiracy Theory Promoting or Not Conspiracy Theory Promoting – by our research assistants.

Due to the nature of conspiracy theories, there was likely to be some disagreement on specific tweets as to whether they were conspiracy theory promoting or not, even given the precise definitions we adopted. We recognized that, and wanted to maintain a high standard for identifying specific tweets as conspiracy theory promoting. To that end, we had each tweet read and classified by three research assistants. This is a more stringent standard than is typically used when manual classification is performed for supervised machine learning. In most applications in contemporary political science, research assistants read and classify a small subset of documents in common, intercoder reliability is established, and then the vast majority of documents are individually classified. Instead, we had multiple research assistants read every tweet, and used a majority rules standard (at least 2 out of 3 agreeing) to determine whether a tweet was CT promoting or not. We considered using a unanimity standard (3 out of 3 agreeing), but decided that risked producing too many false negatives.

With this general protocol in place, in mid-June of 2022 we spent one working week (one afternoon per conspiracy theory) training research assistants on what each conspiracy theory was, walking through examples selected by the two of us as exemplars of promoting the conspiracy theory and others that were close but not (by our definition) conspiracy theory promoting. Researchers then were given a batch of keyword-identified sample tweets to classify individually, followed by a comparison of classification results, discussion about disagreements, and decisions on specific rules to resolve recurring issues. For example, when classifying tweets as either promoting the Stolen 2020 Election conspiracy theory or not, we discussed whether tweets calling the election “stolen” because the media was biased against Donald Trump qualified as conspiracy theory promoting. We decided no: media bias is not necessarily the result of a conspiracy, and this was qualitatively different than claims that operatives manufactured ballots or hacked into voting machines, which are central to this particular conspiracy theory.

Numerous decisions of this nature were made to provide clear guidance to research assistants. We note that other researchers might in some cases have made different decisions than we did. Requiring a standard of perfect agreement would in practice mean research on this important topic would not be possible. Rather, the correct standard to apply is to ask whether decisions are defensible, whether they are explained clearly and transparently to readers, and whether the data (i.e., the tweets themselves) are made available to future researchers who can then make a different set of decisions if they so choose, which we do here.

As an example of the types of classification decisions RAs made, Table S1 below displays two tweets per conspiracy theory that were identified via the keyword approach as possible conspiracy theory promoting tweets. One of the two tweets was classified as not promoting the conspiracy theory, the other tweet was.

The pairwise agreement rate (i.e., the probability that any two coders agreed in their ratings on any given tweet) was 0.8 or above for all of the individual conspiracy theories, while the Krippendorff’s alpha ranged from 0.4 to 0.5. Although the pairwise agreement rate is similar to other research using manual tweet classification (e.g., Barberá et al. 2022; Payson et al. 2022), the Krippendorff’s alpha is lower than typical. One possible reason is that our coders were classifying tweets already identified as high-likelihood using keyword searches, in essence giving coders a subset containing the most difficult cases. Using a random sample of all tweets, as is more common, would result in higher intercoder reliability, but produce an insufficient number of tweets from each of the five conspiracy theories given their small number (in relation to the universe of tweets).

As an additional precaution against false positives, the authors read and reviewed each of the tweets identified by researchers as conspiracy theory promoting. While in general deferring to research assistant decisions, we did remove a total of 21 tweets which we felt clearly did not meet our definition of conspiracy theory promoting. No tweets that were not originally marked as conspiracy theory promoting were classified as such; in other words, only false positives were removed.

Augmenting Corpus via Machine Learning

Because RAs were unable to manually classify all of the keyword-identified tweets due to time constraints, we used the manually-classified tweets as training data for a machine learning algorithm to predict which of the remaining tweets were likely to be CT-promoting based on textual similarity with the manually-classified tweets.

Before fitting machine learning models, we pre-processed the tweet text data. For both the text of the tweets itself and any referenced text (quote, reply, etc.) – the same content that the human RAs had available to them – we removed all punctuation and symbols. We also extracted words from URLs, as this may contain informative content. All words were converted to lowercase, and we removed stopwords using the list of English stopwords in the quanteda package in R. We included all bigrams as well as individual words. Any words or bigrams appearing in less than 0.4% of tweets we removed from the dataframe, to make fitting the models computationally feasible.

After this pre-processing, we used the caret package in R to fit LASSO, Naive Bayes, Random Forests, and XGBoost models. We split the data into training and test splits, with 4/5 of the manually-classified tweets being used for training and the remaining 1/5 used for testing out-of-sample performance.² After fitting the four models, the Naive Bayes had the best out-of-sample performance, with accuracy ranging from 81% to 86% depending on the specific conspiracy theory and – the metric we use to choose among classification models – an Area Under the ROC curve (AUROC) ranging from 87% to 96%. In general, our classifications models for each conspiracy theory did better at correctly classifying non-CT promoting tweets than classifying CT-promoting tweets. In other words, the classifications models produce more false negatives than false positives, something we think is desirable for our purposes. To the extent that this would affect our conclusions, it should contribute to

2. We excluded all tweets that precisely one RA coded as being CT-promoting from the training and test data. The models thus were predicting which tweets were not CT-promoting (0 RAs classified as a positive) and which were CT-promoting (2 or 3 RAs classified as a positive).

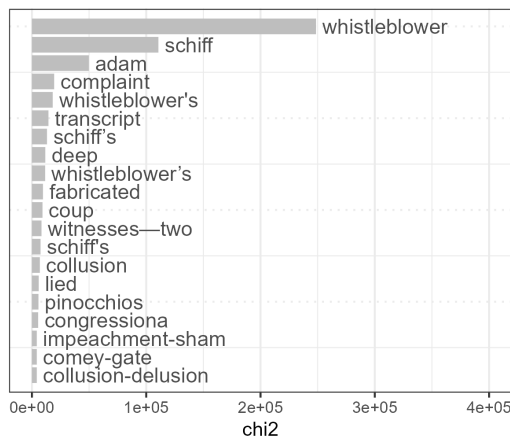

understating the true effect of conspiracy theory promoting tweets, as the comparisons we are making may contain some unobserved number of conspiracy theory promoting tweets. In contrast, a classification model producing more false positives than false negatives could lead to us uncovering an effect of whatever underlying characteristic is producing the false positives, in contrast to an effect of conspiracy theory promotion itself.

Given a set of classification models that performed well and had these desirable characteristics, we then used the final trained models to make predictions for the remaining, unclassified tweets (as well as any tweet classified as CT-promoting by exactly one of three RAs, which we considered an ambiguous case). All tweets which had a greater than or equal to 50% probability of being promoting a particular conspiracy theory were then classified that way in the manual- and machine-classified version of the dataset, while tweets with a less than 50% probability of being CT-promoting were not.

S22. Codebook Provided to Research Assistants

Codebook for Classifying Tweets

Conspiracy Theory Promotion on Social Media

Last modified: June 21, 2022

Introduction

This codebook is a resource that does the following:

- 1) Presents our working definition of a conspiracy theory
- 2) Discusses the details of the five specific conspiracy theories we are focusing on in this research project
- 3) Provides rules for classifying tweets as conspiracy theory promoting (CT promoting) or not

Please take time to read carefully through this codebook and let us know if there are any questions. When classifying tweets as CT promoting or not, you should stick to these guidelines and rules as closely as possible. As we go through the training sessions, this codebook will be subject to editing and refinement.

How do we define a conspiracy theory?

Conspiracy theories come in many different forms, and there have been quite a few attempts to define them. We will use the following definition for this specific research project:

“A secret arrangement between a small group of actors to usurp political or economic power, violate established rights, hide vital secrets, or illicitly cause widespread harm. We define conspiracy theory as a proposed explanation of events that cites as a main causal factor a small group of persons (the conspirators) acting in secret for their own benefit, against the common good”

A shorter version with the most important elements of the above definition:

“A conspiracy involves a small group of powerful individuals acting in secret for their own benefit and against the common good.

Note that neither of these definitions says anything about the truth content of the conspiracy theory. While conspiracy theories are often considered unlikely to be true or even obviously false, a conspiracy theory may have partially or even entirely accurate elements. For example, a characterization of the Watergate Scandal, in which the Richard Nixon campaign attempted to break into the Democratic National Committee headquarters and wiretap his political rivals, would fit into our definition of a conspiracy theory above despite well-documented evidence it occurred. In many cases, conspiracy theories are designed to be unfalsifiable. For this project, we are setting aside the extent to which any of these conspiracy theories are true.

We have chosen five recent examples of conspiracy theories that numerous members of Congress discussed: 1) Deep State Interference with the Trump Administration, 2) Election Fraud in the 2020 Election, 3) Globalist Puppeteers Controlling World Events, 4) Russia-Trump Collusion in the 2016 Election, and 5) Vote by Mail Sabotage in the 2020 Election.

How do we determine if a tweet is conspiracy theory promoting?

As described below, each of these five conspiracy theories fit our definition of a conspiracy theory. Your job will be to determine if an individual tweet promotes one of these conspiracy theories or does not. By promoting, we mean “give reason to believe or suggest that the conspiracy has merit or should be believed”.

For a tweet to be CT promoting, it should allude to an action 1) taken against the common good 2) by a small group of powerful actors and 3) performed covertly, in an attempt to hide or disguise one’s actions. This allusion may be implicit rather than explicit. For example, a tweet suggesting that falsified ballots were used to steal the 2020 election may not directly mention Democrat operatives or the Biden campaign, but if a knowledgeable reader of the tweet would understand that these groups were responsible, it should still be classified as CT promoting.

Some more specific rules to help evaluate whether a tweet is CT promoting or not:

- If the tweet is a retweet or quote tweet of a different tweet that fits our definition of CT promoting, the retweet/quote tweet should be classified as CT promoting, unless there is additional text that is explicitly refuting or rejecting the conspiracy theory.
- If a tweet simply mentions that some third party believes in the CT, this in-and-of-itself is not sufficient to make the tweet CT promoting. For example, if a tweet quotes a survey showing many American believe the 2020 election was stolen, with no other commentary or support for the theory, this is not CT promoting.
- If a tweet references lying, hiding information, keeping things secret, or something similar, there is a high chance it fits our definition of CT promoting.
- If you’re not sure if a tweet should be classified as CT promoting, and the tweet contains a link, you should click on the link to determine if the linked article, website, etc. contains CT promoting content. Any CT promoting content that is linked to should be treated as being in the tweet itself. Please do not spend more than a couple minutes reading the linked material, however. For example, if the tweet contains a link to a podcast or YouTube video, do not listen/watch the entire video/podcast, but scan the description to see if there is obvious CT promoting content.
- If a tweet contains CT promoting content in EITHER the text of the tweet OR the linked content, it should be classified as CT promoting.

Every tweet must be classified as CT promoting or not – there is no in-between category. As you go through tweets in the Classifier App, select “Yes” or “No” to answer whether the tweet is CT promoting. If you are not 100% sure, select the choice that most closely fits. If you are truly uncertain, mark down the number of the tweet and return to it later, if you desire, to give a final answer. We will use the latest response you give on each tweet as your final decision.

Please read each tweet carefully at least two times. Sometimes the tweets will contain quite a bit of text, hashtags, links, etc., and a small portion that you might miss on the first read could have CT promoting content. After you've carefully read the tweet, select the appropriate option.

Details on specific conspiracy theories

1. Deep State Interference

The conspiracy theory: A group of high-ranking government officials, embedded into the bureaucracy, acted in coordination to prevent the legitimate use of presidential power by President Donald Trump, or lied and manipulated information in order to force a democratically-elected president out of power.

The conspirators: High-ranking government bureaucrats

Types of actions: Undermining, sabotaging, or interfering with President Trump; lying, leaking, or falsifying information

Additional comments:

- Tweets may reference the “deep state” directly, use a synonym such as “the swamp”, or discuss specific individuals (for example, Marie Yovanovitch). Be careful with synonyms such as “the swamp”, however, as words such as this may be in reference to members of Congress or Washington D.C. more generally. A key element of this conspiracy theory is that it is members of the federal bureaucracy, who should be supporting the president’s agenda, who are acting against Trump.
- The mere use of “deep state” in a tweet does not by itself justify the tweet being classified as CT promoting if used as a pejorative adjective (example: “the deep state swamp needs draining!”) without any other suggestion of the above nefarious actions being taken.
- A key indicator of this conspiracy theory is the suggestion of “war” or “hostile conflict” between government bureaucrats and the Trump presidency.
- References to a whistleblower working together with Democrats to conspire against Trump (i.e., scheming, plotting, coup) should be classified as promoting the Deep State Interference conspiracy. Tweets must suggest the whistleblower colluded or worked with others; tweets referencing a member of Congress (e.g., Adam Schiff) taking advantage of a whistleblower without their cooperation should not be classified as conspiracy theory promoting.
- Unless otherwise indicated, assume that actions taken by the deep state during the Trump presidency were aimed at the Trump presidency himself.
- Deep state actions taken against high-level Republican allies of Trump (for example, members of Congress who supported Trump) should be included as CT promoting.

2. Stolen 2020 Election

The conspiracy theory: Beginning with the onset of the coronavirus pandemic in mid-2020, Democratic operatives developed and successfully executed a plot to manufacture votes for Joe Biden or otherwise manipulate the counting to ensure a Democratic victory regardless of the true will of the electorate.

The conspirators: The Biden campaign, Democrats in positions of power within the party

Types of actions: Hacking voting machines; “dead” voters casting ballots; forge mail-in ballots; rigging or stealing the election

Additional comments:

- Simply requesting that the election results be audited is not sufficient for a tweet to be CT promoting, unless the tweet suggests that the results should be audited because it will reveal election fraud did occur.
- If the tweet is suggesting the election would be/was stolen for reasons other than those described here (for example, due to the media being unfair in its coverage of Donald Trump), the tweet should not be classified as CT promoting.
- If the tweet is suggesting another election featured fraud/was stolen besides the 2020 presidential election (Georgia runoffs, special election, etc.) the tweet should not be classified as CT promoting.

3. Globalist Puppeteers

The conspiracy theory: A group of influential and wealthy power-brokers from across the world illicitly manipulate domestic politics in countries like the United States in order to put in place socialist policies and politicians and ultimately move towards an authoritarian one-world government.

The conspirators: Influential and powerful actors on the world stage (for example, George Soros or Bill Gates)

Types of actions: Paying protestors or undocumented immigrants; spreading misinformation; controlling the media

Additional comments:

- The mere use of “globalist” in a tweet does not by itself justify the tweet being classified as CT promoting if used as a pejorative adjective (example: “We need to stand up to globalist Democrats!”) without any other suggestion of the above nefarious actions being taken.
- An important distinction is between legitimate versus illicit political activity. For instance, a reference to George Soros contributing money to an interest group or paying for television ads is not conspiratorial, as these actions are a normal, accepted way to participate in politics in the US. Soros paying actors to stage a supposedly grassroots protest would be conspiratorial, however. When in doubt, refer to the working definition of conspiracy theories as something done in secret.
- Another distinction is between globalists being the ones taking actions, versus globalists being the audience. For example, a tweet about Biden passing legislation to satisfy his globalist backers is not in-and-of-itself conspiratorial. The tweet should imply that globalists are the ones pulling the strings (i.e., initiating the action).

4. Russia-Trump Collusion

The conspiracy theory: During the 2016 presidential election, Donald Trump and/or high-ranking members of his campaign team met and worked with agents of the Russian government to sabotage Hillary Clinton's chances by producing misinformation, hacking into and leaking emails, and similar nefarious actions.

The conspirators: Vladimir Putin and top members of the Russian government, Donald Trump and high-ranking members of his campaign

Types of actions: Hacking emails; meeting in secret; exchanging dirt

Additional comments:

- A critical element of this CT is that the tweet must imply that 1) a high-level official or politician associated with the Trump campaign and 2) agents of Russia both participated willingly and worked together. A tweet insinuating that Russia interfered in the 2016 election without suggesting that the Trump campaign took part in these efforts is not CT promoting.
- There were a few instances where Donald Trump made public statements encouraging Russia to look into or release Hillary Clinton emails. References to these statements are not CT promoting, as an important element of a conspiracy is that it is done in secret.
- A related subject is that Russia possessed incriminating or embarrassing material (kompromat) about Donald Trump. If a tweet suggests the Trump campaign cooperated with Russia because of this kompromat, then it should be classified as CT promoting, but a mere reference to the incriminating material is not sufficient to justify a tweet being classified as CT promoting.
- A reference to Trump obstructing or working against the FBI investigation into Russian interference is not in and of itself justification for the tweet being CT promoting, unless the tweet suggests that the reason he's obstructing is because he's trying to prevent evidence of his collusion with Russia from surfacing.
- If a tweet dating after the 2016 election suggests Trump may work with Russians in a future election, but does not otherwise imply that he already worked with the Russians, it should not be classified as CT promoting.

5. Vote by Mail Sabotage

The conspiracy theory: In May of 2020, Donald Trump appointed Louis DeJoy as Postmaster General for the express purpose of reducing the United States Postal Service's ability to process mail-in ballots, a plot that Louis DeJoy was aware of and participated in.

The conspirators: Donald Trump, members of the Trump administration, Louis DeJoy

Types of actions: Sabotage the USPS; remove mailboxes; subvert the election

Additional comments:

- An important distinction here is between DeJoy taking actions that have the unintended side-effect of reducing the USPS's ability to process mail-in ballots, versus purposefully doing so. DeJoy took actions (cutting budgets, limiting overtime hours, etc.) that likely led to longer processing times for mail-in ballots, but unless the tweet is implying that Trump and DeJoy made these choices for electoral subversion (as opposed to, for example, making the post office a more streamlined, efficient agency), the tweet is not conspiratorial.
- For this reason, a tweet simply criticizing DeJoy for undermining the USPS is not conspiratorial, but one saying that DeJoy undermined the USPS and threatened our democracy is.
- On the other hand, if a tweet mentions reduced capacity to process mail-in ballots as one negative consequence among several non-electoral ones (slower prescription medication, poorer service in rural areas, etc.) the tweet should be classified as not CT promoting, unless there is a more specific reference to DeJoy or Trump attacking vote by mail on purpose.
- A reference to Trump or others in his administration making public statements casting doubt about mail-in ballots is not sufficient to justify inclusion in this conspiracy theory. The conspiracy is that actions were purposefully taken to undermine the election by reducing the capacity of the USPS.

Excuse me if I'm a bit skeptical of yet another second-hand allegation after nearly 3 years of witch hunts, baseless accusations about @realDonaldTrump, and lies from Democrats and deep state actors trying to un-do the 2016 election. Same old Democrat playbook.

9/24/2019 SMUCKER, Lloyd K. (1176617943934918656)

No collusion. So, we should be highly skeptical of the Democrats who are, again, rushing to condemn the President on hearsay and without all the information. For example, we know the whistleblower was not in the room when the call with the President of Ukraine took place. | Remember when the Democrat Chairman of the House Intelligence Committee, Adam Schiff, said for two years that he had proof, beyond circumstantial, of Russian collusion? He lied. The conclusion from the Attorney General following the extensive Mueller report was, in fact,

Below, you can read the full opinion issued by DOJ on this matter/call. We need to fully and completely examine the whistleblower's claims, including this one below as highlighted by the Department of Justice. Read the full OLC opinion here:

9/26/2019 GOSAR, Paul (1177210774193876996)

3. The July call was routine and proper. The "complaint" is simply another coup plotter seeking to overturn the 2016 election. The whistleblower is not a genuine whistleblower. This person is a mole. @POTUS is surrounded by the likes of Brutus and Judas Iscariot. <https://twitter.com/DrPaulGosar/status/1177210774193876996/photo/1> | 2. The main premise is a lie or at best based on an inability to distinguish "personal" from official interests. @realDonaldTrump has a duty to root out corruption. There is a prima facie case of corruption by VP Biden. Biden running for office is not a grant of immunity.

9/26/2019 JORDAN, Jim (1177232920400080896)

The Inspector General for the Intelligence Community found that the so-called "whistleblower" had "some indicia of an arguable political bias... in favor of a rival political candidate." That's Washington speak for "they were out to get the President."

As to the other matters in complaint: Clearly a coordinated effort to take second-hand information to create a narrative damaging to the President. When I think of whistleblower complaints I generally think of someone with first-hand knowledge of the events in question. | It is imperative we find out which White House official talked to the whistleblower and why. Why didn't they lodge the complaint?

@POTUS was accused for 3years of being a Russian pawn. But when he seeks assistance from a foreign gov that might have info that could answer questions on interference, he is attacked by Deep State for attempting to expose corruption prevalent in the Obama Admin & Clinton campaign

5/13/2020 ROUNDS, Marion Michael (Mike) (1260693606681190405)

The FBI's gross mishandling of the FISA process when it surveilled President Trump's campaign has underscored the need to reform the entire process.

5/14/2020 TUBERVILLE, Thomas Hawley (Tommy) (1260721533066055686)

It's a sad day when an American President is spied on by his own Country. And people think the Deep State is just some story for a movie? This is more proof of the plot against PRESIDENT DONALD J TRUMP!

5/14/2020 COMER, James (1260952084763074561)

@RepMaloney and House Democrats should investigate this. Each day more Deep State abuses come to light in an apparent failed coup attempt. As a member of Oversight Committee, it's frustrating to see Democrats turn a blind eye to crimes committed against @realDonaldTrump campaign

5/21/2020 KING, Steve (1263468204682289152)

5/25/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1264942805413253121)

In June @senjudiciary will move forward with a crucial next step in the Committee's probe of unauthorized FBI spying on the Trump campaign. My colleagues and I will vote on subpoenaing dozens of deep state Obama officials including @SallyQYates & @Comey.

6/3/2020 GAETZ, Matthew L. II (1268293834909405189)

The deep state assault on @realDonaldTrump's candidacy was aided by a Deputy Attorney General who couldn't even be bothered to read a FISA application. The American people still won. And the swamp is being exposed more and more every day.

6/16/2020 COMER, James (1272918937093771266)

Proud to join my friend @Jim_Jordan in urging reforms to prevent future FISA abuses by deep state actors. Congress must also act to hold the Obama-Biden FBI accountable for using national security tools to spy on the 2016 Trump Campaign.

6/24/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1275849350216912896)

The deep state has been persistent in its efforts to take down @GenFlynn. Today's decision ordering the dismissal of charges against him is proof that justice will ultimately prevail.

6/24/2020 ARMSTRONG, Kelly (1275867918526447617)

RT @RepDougCollins: WATCH -> One of today's witnesses testifying as a DOJ "whistleblower" admits he requested to work for @JerryNadler during impeachment. This should tell you everything you need to know about today's hearing.

6/24/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1275893422428000256)

On Jan 4, 2017, @FBIWFO recommended closing the investigation into @GenFlynn. But a top official intervened. The next day, @BarackObama, @JoeBiden & their deep state minions @Comey, @SallyQYates & @AmbassadorRice huddled to brainstorm the best tactics to take down Flynn.

7/2/2020 JORDAN, Jim (1278736937268936706) Adam Schiff wasn't honest about his staff's interaction with the #impeachment "whistleblower." It looks like he's back to his old political games. Schiff was briefed on Russian bounties in February, didn't do anything, and is now blaming the President!

7/2/2020 SCALISE, Steve (1278740112239624204) RT @Jim_Jordan: Adam Schiff wasn't honest about his staff's interaction with the #impeachment "whistleblower." 7/17/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1284252163556941827)

New DOJ documents expose the deep state's mission to take down President Trump. A top Obama FBI official admitted to having no evidence of any Russian collusion, yet continued the witch hunt to spy on @realDonaldTrump's campaign.

7/23/2020 BIGGS, Andrew S. (1286448657424945152)

NEW DOCUMENTS just declassified give us more proof that the Deep State within the FBI was working to prevent @realDonaldTrump from becoming the next President of the United States. This is outrageous, and every American should demand accountability for those involved.

7/26/2020 GREENE, Marjorie Taylor (1287415844247670784)

Great news! The Democrat activist in the media, along with the Obama allied deep state, did everything they could to ruin @carterwpage all in an effort to take down @realDonaldTrump Proud that my allies include @LLinWood We've had enough.

8/5/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1291121548590555137)

Sally Yates confirmed that deep state FBI Director James Comey went "rogue" with his investigation into General Michael Flynn.

8/5/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1291147405786853379)

Deep state FBI agents actively fought to withhold national security information from President Trump.

8/14/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1294342594684739584)

Kevin Clinesmith's guilty plea is a long time coming, and is just the beginning. We must hold each deep state official involved in the illegal spying operation on the Trump campaign to account.

8/15/2020 COMER, James (1294445605637562368)

RT @RepJamesComer: The great work by @DevinNunes & House Intelligence Cmte Republicans along with @GOPoversight Cmte & @JudiciaryGOP Cmte exposed the #RussianHoax. Now deep state abusers are beginning to be held accountable.

8/26/2020 STEUBE, William (1298643415199109121)

Those involved in the deep state corruption exposed by the Durham investigation need to go to jail for their crimes. It is clear that the FBI has a double standard and abused their power during the 2016 election. We need to drain the swamp.

9/1/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1300860148639031296)

What Barack Obama, Joe Biden & James Comey did to President Trump is despicable. We must ensure that no future candidate can be spied on based on their political ideology. The safeguards announced today by AG Barr will help keep the deep state at bay.

9/3/2020 PAUL, Rand (1301618283783827457)

Matt is right. This is important. @Snowden exposed illegal and unconstitutional actions by the Deep State, including Clapper and others who went after @realDonaldTrump and lied about it.

9/12/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1304840429821718529)

Deep state @FBI agents and Obama's @TheJusticeDept got caught spying on President Donald Trump. Then, the officials wiped their phones clean in an attempted cover-up.

9/14/2020 HICE, Jody Brownlow (1305652337596420097)

The claims of @RepAdamSchiff's latest "whistleblower" are falling apart fast! Same screenwriter 👉 Schiff Same lawyer 👉 Mark Zaid Same objective 👉 impeach @POTUS Same outcome 👉 @realDonaldTrump is still President

9/16/2020 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1306276840701603841)

10/20/2020 HICE, Jody Brownlow (1318664198482702344)

Clinton, Obama, Biden, Pelosi, Schiff, Nadler & Schumer represent the most corrupt political party in America's history. Add in the mainstream media and deep state... No @POTUS has ever been so besieged from all sides. Thank God @realDonaldTrump has the guts to fight back!

10/21/2020 MCCARTHY, Kevin (1318971823724310530)

He lied about Russian collusion. He lied about his contact with the impeachment whistleblower. Now he's lying about Hunter Biden's shady China dealings to protect Joe Biden. Adam Schiff only knows how to do one thing well.

10/22/2020 LOEFFLER, Kelly (1319320834792620032)

It's @RepAdamSchiff who can't be trusted. He lied repeatedly about the phony impeachment "whistleblower" and the fake Russia Hoax. Now, within our government as @HouseIntel Chairman, he's sowing discourse & creating uncertainty in the intel community.

10/22/2020 GAETZ, Matthew L. II (1319343009071304707)

We now know the truth: Democrats and Deep State officials at the FBI kept evidence of Joe and Hunter Biden's international corruption covered up. They didn't want the facts before the country. They just wanted a politically-motivated impeachment.

10/24/2020 NUNES, Devin (1319859754408177666)

RT @DonaldJTrumpJr It was a coup! Everyone needs to see this film by Amanda Milius about Team Nunes as they battled the DC Deep State. Based on Lee Smith's bestselling book. If you want to know what really happened in Russiagate - WATCH THIS THE PLOT AGAINST THE PRESIDENT

10/26/2020 HICE, Jody Brownlow (1320710528528994305)

Bad actors and ineffective agency heads need to go. @realDonaldTrump should remove Chris Wray ASAP. Wray is nothing but a potted plant. His inaction enabled the corrupt Deep State to flourish, while it should have been dismantled under his watch.

10/28/2020 COLLINS, Doug (1321549161439858688)

We were right all along - the anonymous "senior official" was just another low level deep state hack that had no interaction with the President. Shame on the national media that breathlessly ran with this nonsense.

Russia-Trump Collusion

1/8/2019 LIEU, Ted (1082671471271530496)

Two thoughts about the Russian lawyer in the Trump Tower meeting getting indicted. 1. Prosecutors take the felony of Obstruction of Justice seriously. 2. No one is above the law: not Russian operatives, friends of @realDonaldTrump, family members of Trump, or @POTUS himself. US attorney in NY charges Natalia Veselnitskaya, the Russian lawyer who met in Trump Tower with Donald Trump Jr and others promising dirt on Hillary Clinton, in a separate case highlighting her ties to the Russian government.

1/8/2019 BLUMENTHAL, Richard (1082738830283808769)

Two big questions: 1. Did a Russian intelligence operative get Trump's campaign manager to shape the Republican party's stance during the campaign to be more pro-Russian? (Remember that the RNC changed its position on Russia/Ukraine during the convention.) Stunning information revealed in Manafort legal team's improperly redacted filing: Manafort lied about discussing a Ukrainian peace plan with suspected Russian intel operative, Kilimnik, met with him in Madrid in run up to the election, & shared election polling data.

Today's Republican attacks against the Chairman were unacceptable. #IStandWithSchiff I say this to the President, and his defenders in Congress: You may think it's okay how Trump and his associates interacted with Russians during the campaign. I don't. I think it's immoral. I think it's unethical. I think it's unpatriotic. And yes, I think it's corrupt.

3/28/2019 ESCOBAR, Veronica (1111358410245787648)

Thank you for your leadership @RepAdamSchiff. Every member of Congress, regardless of party, should reject the normalization/acceptance or cover up of brazen corruption. We took an oath to uphold the constitution, not the person occupying the White House.

RT @ddale8: The Mueller report says that the lies to Congress and to the special counsel from "several individuals affiliated with the Trump Campaign" "materially impaired the investigation of Russian election interference."

4/18/2019 HUFFMAN, Jared (1118913379584724993)

One takeaway from #MuellerReport: it really is "total exoneration" ... of @RepAdamSchiff. He should be receiving apologies today from Trump & his mindless "no collusion" minions. The depth/scope of Trump/Russia collusion is breathtaking & now way beyond dispute.

4/18/2019 FEINSTEIN, Dianne (1118941631892393984)

Moving forward, Congress needs the unredacted report and underlying evidence, a commitment from AG Barr to not interfere with other ongoing investigations and a series of Judiciary Committee hearings. Congress must ensure actions like the report details are never repeated. The Mueller report lays out not only how Russia interfered in the 2016 election, but also related activities carried out by Trump campaign officials. It also details many instances where President Trump tried to obstruct or stop the investigation.

The American people deserve transparency from their government. I'll be doing my due diligence & digging into the #MuellerReport to get a full picture of what the Special Counsel found about Russia's interference in our elections & the Trump campaign's involvement in it. #mtpol

4/18/2019 JOHNSON, Eddie Bernice (1118979591417270288)

It is clear from even this redacted version of the #MuellerReport that the President of the United States and his campaign engaged in wrongdoing - involving both his campaign's connections to Russian interference in the 2016 election and the obstruction of justice.

4/18/2019 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1119023149142687750)

Mueller identified at least 10 potential instances where Trump sought to obstruct justice. Mueller pointedly left resolving them in Congress's hands. Every constitutional option should be on the table. What we read today is one of the most tragic documents in the history of the American presidency. Trump & his minions maintained dangerous coordination w/ the Russian govt to impact the election and that Trump likely committed obstruction of justice.

4/20/2019 BEYER, Donald Sternoff Jr. (1119638562385874946)

RT @NatashaBertrand: The Trump campaign was well aware of Carter Page's Russia ties before he was hired, according to Mueller. Page even told them in January 2016 that he believed he could arrange "a direct meeting in Moscow" between Trump and Putin. He was hired less than 2 months later.

4/21/2019 BEYER, Donald Sternoff Jr. (1119963564939382784)

The President's lawyer Rudy Giuliani effectively admits the Trump campaign engaged in what most would call "collusion." The redacted Mueller report, while acknowledging it could not prove criminal conspiracy, documents many instances of the Trump campaign receiving Russian help. "There's nothing wrong with taking information from Russians," Rudy Giuliani tells @jaketapper.

4/23/2019 HIMES, James A. (1120489812941733888)

@williamg1 @MEPF fuller I know the facts. And again, I'm not arguing for doing nothing. I'm arguing for acting in a smart and considered way. The President gave campaign data to the Russians who attacked our democracy. Afterwards, he obstructed the investigation into this attack on our democracy by foreign adversary. If you do nothing, the lesson learned is Trump should just do it again. What's wrong with you?

4/26/2019 JACKSON LEE, Sheila (1121777469881835528)

RT @SethAbramson: BREAKING NEWS: Yesterday a NYT article confirmed that, for counterintelligence purposes, Trump's campaign did coordinate with Russia; today we have confirmation that Mueller's team did conclude Trump obstructed justice.

5/3/2019 ESCOBAR, Veronica (1124379038049378304)

Republican colleagues: @POTUS spoke with Putin about "Russian hoax." Russia meddled in our elections. Trump & Co knew, didn't report it, encouraged it & lied about it. And the AG

5/3/2019 CORTEZ MASTO, Catherine Marie (1124395054590828546)

6/28/2019 DEMINGS, Valdez Butler (1144568725359812608)

This should go without saying, but the President of the United States has a responsibility to protect our national security against foreign dictators-and that includes protecting our elections. Instead, we have seen cover-ups, collusion, and jokes. Last year, Pres. Trump defended Putin and said Russia didn't attack our 2016 election. Mueller then uncovered that Russia engaged in "sweeping and systematic" attacks on our country and that the Trump campaign "welcomed" those attacks. 2020 is soon and nothing has changed.

7/21/2019 COHEN, Stephen (1153043891257585664)

#Socialist #Democrat = voter fraud! 17 #Pennsylvania legislators & CPA examine govt election docs & find that 200,000+/- MORE votes COUNTED in election returns than people who actually voted! Legally impossible. See voter fraud yet, #FakeNewsMedia?

12/29/2020 GOODEN, Lance (1343970475228205057)

If the radical, anti-American Democrats successfully steal this election, what will stop them from stealing EVERY election moving forward? The time to fight is NOW, @GOP!

12/29/2020 BROOKS, Mo (1344053545893556227)

TUNE IN: I'll join the @IngrahamAngle tonight at 9:05 CT to explain Socialist Dem election theft tactics & preview the January 6th objection to Electoral College votes from states with flawed election systems and rampant voter fraud. Don't miss!

12/30/2020 GOODEN, Lance (1344317368961540102)

Senator @HawleyMO has now joined dozens of my house colleagues and myself in OBJECTING on January 6th. This was a rigged election from the start and we cannot, in good faith, vote to certify this election. We will fight for @realDonaldTrump and 75M disenfranchised voters!

12/31/2020 GOHMERT, Louie (1344669618619736068)

1/2/2021 BLACKBURN, Marsha (1345429206138843140)

I cannot in good conscience turn a blind eye to the countless allegations of voter fraud in the 2020 presidential election. On January 6, I will vote in favor of objecting to the certification of the electoral college results.

1/2/2021 FLEISCHMANN, Chuck (1345442844308332545)

The 2020 Presidential Election was rife with voter fraud. Universal mail-in ballots, election irregularities and voter fraud. That's why I'm objecting to the Electoral College certification on Tuesday.

1/2/2021 MULLIN, Markwayne (1345501100833603584)

As I said in my interview on Fox and Friends on Wednesday, due to all of the fraud and uncertainty surrounding the 2020 election there is no way I can vote to certify the Electoral College. I will be contesting the Electoral College votes on January 6th.

1/3/2021 HICE, Jody Brownlow (1345718815229882368)

I have the honor of being sworn in today as a Member of Congress for my fourth term. My oath to support and defend the Constitution has never been more important. First order of business? Fight for fair elections by objecting to fraud on Jan 6! Liberty must be defended!

1/3/2021 HICE, Jody Brownlow (1345723821152727041)

They stole the presidential race, now the Left has their sights set on Georgia's Senate races. We MUST defeat socialism on Jan 5 in GA. That means being vigilant to all fraud and irregularities! Free, fair and honest elections are the backbone of Liberty!

We cannot afford to be idle. These are the moments that count. We must eradicate election fraud and prosecute the guilty. OBJECT to the electoral certification in Congress on Jan 6!

1/4/2021 LAMBORN, Doug (1346130971226210310)

I will object to the Electoral College results due to election irregularities. A fair election system is a fundamental building block of our republic & my constituents deserve to know that the election was free of fraud. @realDonaldTrump fought for us, on #JAN6 I'll fight for him

1/4/2021 ROGERS, Mike Dennis (1346167021759770625)

On January 6th, I will vote against the Electoral College results for the 2020 election. There are far too many instances of alleged voter fraud that have called the legitimacy of the election results into question.

1/4/2021 ROGERS, Mike Dennis (1346167023789867011)

In addition, election officials in certain states appeared to have deliberately acted in an unconstitutional manner to manipulate the results. These allegations of election fraud must be thoroughly investigated before Congress can act.

The all-out assault on @usps by trump and his goons doesn't just threaten your daily service and 600,000 jobs. By going after mail voting it's also a threat to democracy itself. Mail deliveries in the U.S. could be delayed by a day or more under cost-cutting being imposed by the new postmaster general. 7/31/2020 CLARKE, Yvette Diane (1289206638658883586)

The Constitution names a handful of institutions necessary to maintain a healthy democracy, and a robust, well-funded Postal Service is one of them. 45's attack on @USPS is a campaign strategy meant to undermine the ability for Americans to vote by mail in November. (1/2) 45 cannot get away with disenfranchising Americans by sentencing USPS to death by 1000 cuts. We must ensure the @USPS has the resources needed to administer a national election efficiently with integrity using this fundamental democratic service as our Founders intended. (2/2)

8/7/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1291764789375631361)

Trump's attacks to destroy the post office to help his re-election is an attack on every single American and on democracy itself. Undermining public confidence in a vital American institution at exactly the time when confidence is most needed is an obvious strategy of a terrorist group or a foreign adversary. It also appears to be the strategy of the president of the United States.

8/7/2020 CONNOLLY, Gerald E. (Gerry) (1291880860422152192)

Postmaster General DeJoy is calling this a "modified organizational structure." It's really a Trojan Horse. 8/8/2020 DeFAZIO, Peter Anthony (1291904609653420032)

Trump is trying to sabotage the USPS-slow down the mail service, delay ballots, and block vote-by-mail. We must do everything that we can to remove Trump this November.

#SaveTheUSPS Trump's political crony managing the #USPS has made significant changes to postal operations, which has already slowed mail delivery across the country. Tonight he went further and executed a Friday night massacre firing USPS managers who run the day to day postal operations.

8/8/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1292119682191941634)

Trump's sabotage of the USPS is inexcusable. It's an obvious play to delegitimize the election that he thinks he will lose. Congress should support the USPS and ensure that every American can safely and securely vote by mail.

8/8/2020 TRONE, David (1292129967116103682)

Make no mistake about what this means before an election that will rely more heavily on mail in ballots than ever before: "a deliberate sabotage" to the nation's mail service, as @GerryConnolly says. <https://www.washingtonpost.com/business/2020/08/07/postal-service-investigation-dejoy/>

8/8/2020 WARREN, Elizabeth (1292140204980162561)

This is the clearest example yet of Trump and his puppet Postmaster General's attempts to sabotage the USPS before November's election. This kind of behavior is why we're demanding an investigation into Trump's USPS-the Inspector General should add this to their list. The Postal Service has informed states that they'll need to pay first-class 55-cent postage to mail ballots to voters, rather than the normal 20-cent bulk rate. That nearly triples the per-ballot cost.

8/8/2020 GILLIBRAND, Kirsten (1292226755177205760)

President Trump has relentlessly attacked vote-by-mail because he sees it as a major threat to his re-election. Now, he's escalating the attacks by threatening the future of the U.S. Postal Service. Congress must act to give the USPS the relief it needs.

8/9/2020 SMITH, Tina (1292309060772077570)

I'm all for strengthening USPS, but DeJoy has not given the public reason to believe he's acting in good faith. Plus 1) our President is actively working to undermine it 2) we desperately need mail for the census, ppl voting by mail, and those relying on getting Rx drugs by mail.

8/9/2020 HARRIS, Kamala Devi (1292499313407545345)

We have to call out what's really happening here: the Postmaster General, a Trump political ally and fundraiser, is destabilizing the Postal Service ahead of an election where millions seek to vote-by-mail in a pandemic. It's up to Congress to step in & save the Postal Service.

8/9/2020 SCHIFF, Adam (1292500038296440832)

By slowing down deliveries, prohibiting overtime, and freezing hiring, Trump's handpicked donor is sabotaging the USPS during a pandemic, and just before an election when its services are even more vital. We must save the Postal Service to protect our democracy. And we will.

8/9/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1292549918851100672)

This is outrageous. @realDonaldTrump is looking to actively sabotage the election. Stop attacking Vote by Mail and the USPS. And stop attacking Americans' constitutional rights to vote.

8/9/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1292549920709255170)

Let me clear: Vote by Mail should not be a political issue. It's simply about making it easy (and safe!) to vote. Trump is trying to politicize and undermine Vote by Mail because he thinks if more people vote, he'll lose.

8/9/2020 WEXTON, Jennifer (1292602027953074178)

The Trump admin is sabotaging the U.S. Postal Service. Staff restructuring, mail delays, and threats to block the delivery of mail-in ballots are hurting the organization's ability to provide critical services to the American people. #SaveUSPS

8/10/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1292887506015289344)

Donald Trump is an authoritarian and a criminal. He cannot be allowed to sabotage the Postal Service and interfere in the election process. We must open an investigation immediately and hold this president accountable.

8/10/2020 SMITH, Tina (1292944198216425480)

Delayed mail. Severe cost-cutting measures. New executives. A campaign donor installed as Postmaster. It couldn't be clearer: Trump is trying to sabotage vote-by-mail efforts. Congress has got to act immediately to stop him and #SaveUSPS.

8/11/2020 GRIJALVA, Raúl M. (1293253382526902272)

Having a reliable, efficient and fully-funded @USPS has never been more important. By undermining the post office, Trump is attacking the ballot box and threatening the delivery of medicine & other vital packages. #SaveTheUSPS

8/11/2020 KHANNA, Rohit (1293217612298506240)

The new Postmaster General is a top Republican donor with two goals: ✓ Slow down mail delivery to decrease public trust, so that conservatives can make the case for privatizing USPS. ✓ Delay mail-in ballots to make it harder to vote safely in November. We must #SaveUSPS.

8/11/2020 HUFFMAN, Jared (1293242709851996160)

.@realdonaldTrump is deliberately sabotaging the mail ahead of the November elections. This political attack on @USPS is an attack on our democracy and our economy. Congress must #SaveTheUSPS-the integrity of our elections is at stake.

8/11/2020 NADLER, Jerrold Lewis (1293243743877976065)

This is a modern day poll tax. Postmaster DeJoy has turned @USPS into a political weapon, inflating costs in a clear attempt to disenfranchise voters. @USPS was designed to reach every American, regardless of profit motive. DeJoy should resign.

8/11/2020 McGOVERN, James P. (1293249740499554307)

Donald Trump's postmaster general is deliberately slowing down the mail ahead of the November elections. Congress will not allow Trump and his cronies to attack our democracy! #SaveTheUSPS

8/13/2020 ROUDA, Harley (1293964657338863616)

.@RealdDonaldTrump just admitted that without @USPS funding, Americans can't vote safely. The funding he is withholding. The funding @SenateMajLdr refuses to give. If this happened in a foreign nation, we'd call it an autocratic power grab.

8/13/2020 LIEU, Ted (1293746207970349056)

@tedlieu @realDonaldTrump Trump's post office rigging of the election will nullify our votes. He will steal this election like he did the last & we can't do anything about it. Putin told him how to do it during their weekly phone call. We're the United States of Belarus now. Portland was trumps test site | Or we can educate voters so they get their ballots in on time.

8/13/2020 CONNOLLY, Gerald E. (Gerry) (1293870303974653953)

The immediate goal of the Postmaster General's "reorganization" is to suppress votes. This is an effort to try to dissuade people from relying on the USPS by delaying timely deliveries - and in the longer term, to break apart and privatize USPS.

8/13/2020 WELCH, Peter (1293925031685296129)

Today I joined @RepMaloney and @SpeakerPelosi demanding that Postmaster DeJoy answer for his attempts to gut the Postal Service. With millions of Americans expected to vote by mail, an attack on the Postal Service is an attack on democracy. The smooth functioning of the @USPS during the COVID-19 pandemic is a matter of life-or-death, and is critical for protecting lives, livelihoods and the life of our democracy. Postmaster General DeJoy must reverse new policies which accelerate the crisis at the Postal Service.

8/13/2020 SMITH, Adam (1293925653050515457)

The @USPS is critical for protecting lives and our democracy, and I will keep fighting Trump's brazen attempts to undermine the Postal Service. 8/13/2020 CORREA, Jose Luis (1293957644949106690)

President Trump just confirmed what many of us have suspected all along. He is defunding the US Post Office to prevent Americans from voting by mail this November. All Americans have the right to vote without risking exposure to COVID-19. Trump admits he's sabotaging the Postal Service so universal mail voting will be impossible during an election that will be conducted amid a pandemic this November

8/13/2020 SCHIFF, Adam (1293960797480194049)

Has there ever been a president so utterly devoid of scruple, so naked in his ambition to steal an election? Trump is so terrified of losing that he'll take the entire system down with him. When we say the Trump administration is trying to undermine both the #USPS and our upcoming elections, we are not exaggerating: Trump said he does not want to fund the Postal Service because Democrats are seeking to expand mail-in voting during the coronavirus pandemic, making explicit the reason he has declined to approve $25 billion in emergency funding for the agency

8/13/2020 CARDIN, Benjamin Louis (1293967037295931395)

I'm joining @SenateDems in calling on @USPS Postmaster DeJoy to fix delays and reverse policy changes that could jeopardize election mail. When we say the Trump administration is trying to undermine both the #USPS and our upcoming elections, we are not exaggerating:

8/13/2020 HIGGINS, Brian (1293969081788502017)

8/13/2020 KIRKPATRICK, Ann (1293970657835986944)

8/13/2020 LEE, Barbara (1293971386575323136)

Trump withholding critical USPS funding is a deliberate attempt to undermine our election and assault our democracy. The USPS needs funding to ensure everyone can safely cast their ballot on Election Day.

8/13/2020 CLEAVER, Emanuel, II (1293971635809263627)

The USPS is the most popular agency in the federal government and has served the American people for over 2 centuries. I joined @OversightDems and over 170 of my colleagues in the House of Representatives demanding answers and a reversal of the Postmaster General's political manipulation of the USPS.

8/13/2020 HOYER, Steny Hamilton (1293977560267862016)

It is appalling that Trump is deliberately obstructing funding for @USPS to prevent mail-in voting this Fall. Americans should be able to exercise their right to vote safely, not forced to choose between their right to vote and their health & safety.

8/13/2020 DEMINGS, Valdez Butler (1293982355267489796)

The Trump Administration is doing everything possible to ensure you don't vote in 2020. Make sure you vote as early as possible to ensure that your vote is counted. 8/13/2020 RYAN, Timothy J. (1293982850048577542)

There you have it, folks. The quiet part out loud. This President is sabotaging the delivery of your prescriptions and paychecks because he doesn't want us to vote by mail during a deadly health crisis. Trump spells it out: "They want $25 billion ... They need that money in order to have the Post Office work so it can take all of these millions of ballots ... If they don't get those two items, that means you can't have universal mail-in voting, because they're not equipped."

8/13/2020 PORTER, Katie (1293984786076381184)

It is disgusting that the President is attacking one of our nation's civic treasures to make it harder for people to vote. We can't let these tactics discourage us. We need to organize, and we need to fight, and we need to make our voices heard. #SaveTheUSPS Trump saying clearly on Fox why he won't fund USPS. 8/13/2020 PETERS, Scott (1293991309091442688)

The president is unabashedly working to suppress Americans' right to vote, preventing mail-in ballots from being counted by taking down the US Postal Service. Meanwhile, San Diegans relying on USPS to receive lifesaving medications are left in limbo. We can't let this happen. Trump saying clearly on Fox why he won't fund USPS. "Now they need that money in order to make the post office work so it can take all of these millions and millions of ballots...But if they don't get those two items that means you can't have universal mail-in voting..."

Trump once again said the quiet part out loud. His refusal to help the USPS is because he doesn't want universal mail-in voting in November. We must fully fund the USPS so that every American can vote safely.

8/13/2020 DelBENE, Suzan K. (1294010018602287104)

At a time when many Americans will #VoteByMail to stay safe during the election this fall, the #TrumpAdmin is deliberately undermining @USPS. This is dangerous to the foundation of our democracy. RT if you support protecting the Post Office.

8/13/2020 DUCKWORTH, Tammy (1294013235759382530)

The truth comes out. He's trying to steal the election by withholding funding from @USPS & obstructing vote by mail. This is a direct attack on the foundation of our democracy-free & fair elections. The American people decide elections. Not Donald Trump.

8/13/2020 CROW, Jason (1294016813181829125)

This is exactly why I joined 174 of my House colleagues in calling on Postmaster General DeJoy to stop his partisan attack on the USPS. Trump is openly admitting that he is slowing down USPS delivery to suppress the vote and the outcome of the 2020 election. The right to vote is foundational to our democracy and generations of Americans have fought and died to reserve that right.

RT @USProgressives: Slowing down mail delivery Removing sorting machines from post offices Refusing to fund @USPS Donald Trump is destroying our postal system and trying to steal the election. This is not hyperbole. This is an all-out attack on our democracy.

8/13/2020 COOPER, James Hayes Shofner (1294023448444968967)

The President must not be allowed to cripple the USPS, especially to benefit his own campaign. Along with 190+ of my colleagues, I've demanded answers about policies resulting in delayed and undelivered mail from the Postmaster General. President Trump admitted in an interview he plans to block additional funding for the U.S. Postal Service in order to prevent increased voting by mail.

8/13/2020 CÁRDENAS, Tony (1294087698970550272)

RT @RepBera The President is now openly admitting to sabotaging the U.S. Postal Service in hopes of making it harder for Americans to vote. His actions are a threat to our democracy. #SaveTheUSPS

8/13/2020 LOWEY, Nita M. (1294031151447842818)

Funding the @USPS is essential during the COVID-19 pandemic, yet the Trump Admin continues its efforts to weaken the postal service. If President Trump is successful, Americans will have to choose between their health & safety and their fundamental right to vote in November. President Trump said Thursday he opposes much-needed funding for the US Postal Service because he doesn't want to see it used for mail-in voting this November, fueling allegations that he is trying to manipulate the postal system for political gain.

8/13/2020 LOWEY, Nita M. (1294031473507479561)

@USPS can handle snow, rain, heat, and has now proven to work through a pandemic. It is clear the President is politicizing the Postal Service for his own political gain, putting our electoral system in jeopardy and disenfranchising millions in the process. Funding the @USPS is essential during the COVID-19 pandemic, yet the Trump Admin continues its efforts to weaken the postal service. .@USPS isn't about politics, it's about keeping America running. It's about getting letters to servicemembers, keeping 600K people employed, shipping items for small businesses & ensuring everyone can safely vote. But Trump is blatantly using it to obstruct your right to vote. Trump saying clearly on Fox why he won't fund USPS. "Now they need that money in order to make the post office work so it can take all of these millions and millions of ballots...But if they don't get those two items that means you can't have universal mail-in voting..."

8/13/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1294056896261849088)

@wwweek confirmed that the Trump administration is stealing @USPS mailboxes. I can't believe Trump is making it harder to send mail & vote in November. We're going to fight like hell to make sure postal workers & letter carriers can deliver every ballot!

8/13/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1294056901789925376)

Nothing stops the mail-including @realDonaldTrump. @wwweek confirmed that the Trump administration is stealing @USPS mailboxes. I can't believe Trump is making it harder to send mail & vote in November. We're going to fight like hell to make sure postal workers & letter carriers can deliver every ballot!

8/14/2020 ADAMS, Alma (1294063567860310016)

I've called on Postmaster General Louis DeJoy to resign and for Congress to fully fund USPS. This election is too important for us to allow Donald Trump to sabotage it, but I want to hear from you. Take my USPS Survey today: <https://act.myngp.com/Forms/-1026690372286937088>

8/14/2020 WEXTON, Jennifer (1294071193046261760)

Alert: Today @realDonaldTrump admitted to Fox that he's sabotaging the Postal Service to make it harder to vote. He's attacking our democracy & the millions of Michiganders who count on the post office. Please speak out! We must find a way to stop him!

8/14/2020 SCANLON, Mary Gay (1294084599430238215)

Trump, Barr, DeJoy and the entire administration should be working to support US elections, not trying to undermine them. We need the Senate to pass the Heroes Act, which includes funding for the USPS, now!

8/14/2020 SHERMAN, Brad (1294085084170133504)

Trump is trying to dismantle the @USPS and effectively disenfranchise us, all for his own selfish gains. We must stop him. Trump admits to blocking Postal Service funding to undercut voting by mail

8/14/2020 HIRONO, Mazie (1294107662003691522)

Today @realDonaldTrump removed all pretense: he's attacking @USPS intentionally to sabotage voting by mail because he's afraid he's going to lose. We can't be discouraged by this constant barrage of Trump attacks on our democracy. We have to keep fighting back.

8/14/2020 PASCARELL, William J., Jr. (1294269547386740736)

By exaggerating claims of voter fraud, deliberately slowing down the USPS, and threatening to delay one of the most critical elections of our time, trump is trying to strip away one of the most fundamental aspects of our democracy: the right to vote.

8/14/2020 RYAN, Timothy J. (1294280035160006657)

Our country is in crisis. Instead of leading us through the crisis and helping those in need, the President is actively sabotaging American institutions.

8/14/2020 DEAN, Madeleine (1294295046532075520)

The corruption is endless. Trump is cheating our election and democracy in broad daylight. By denying the USPS funding he is committing mass voter suppression and trying to steal an election. Let's make sure he doesn't win this fall PA - vote BLUE and ASAP. #TurnPABlue USPS says Pennsylvania mail ballots may not be delivered on time, and state warns of overwhelming risk to voters

8/14/2020 VAN HOLLEN, Christopher (1294302765875892228)

The challenge of congressional oversight is we have to have the majority party willing to take action. We've sent letters. We've demanded meetings. We've raised this publicly. We've raised this privately. But now, Congressional Republicans must act.

#DontMessWithUSPS. USPS is being deliberately sabotaged to prevent registered voters from safely and securely casting #votebyemail ballots. With an imminent election where Americans and our public health response depend on #votebyemail, this is unacceptable. #DontMessWithUSPS

8/14/2020 LEE, Barbara (1294341713251782656)

Vote-by-mail is vital to our democracy & Trump knows it. Yet, he's trying to suppress the vote & defund @USPS. Despicable. Donald Trump and Melania Trump have requested vote-by-mail ballots ahead of Florida's primary election.

8/14/2020 HAALAND, Debra (1294343028325441537)

Americans depend on the USPS, and now more than ever, our democracy depends on it. Trump is trying to cheat his way to a win in November. Americans won't stand for, and Congress won't stand for it. Everyone depends on the USPS. Seniors for their Social Security, veterans for their prescriptions, small businesses trying to keep their doors open. They can't be collateral damage for an administration more concerned with suppressing the vote than suppressing a virus.

8/14/2020 LARSON, John B. (1294372205502095363)

President Trump's deliberate actions to sabotage the @USPS will disenfranchise American voters & the 1 million troops on active duty stationed around the world. @RepJoeCourtney, @GerryConnolly and I are writing a bill to make sure mail-in votes count!

8/14/2020 MALONEY, Sean Patrick (1294377640694956032)

To be clear: Pres. Trump and Postmaster General DeJoy are delaying your mail to undermine confidence in @USPS ahead of the election. DeJoy must act now to reverse his operational changes that have led to delays & service reductions. America needs USPS.

8/14/2020 BOOKER, Cory Anthony (1294378737589518336)

All of this recent news about the @USPS should inspire our collective outrage. Louis DeJoy and the Trump administration need to be held accountable for their systematic obstruction of the Postal Service's ability to handle mail-in voting. VICE: "The United States Postal Service is removing mail sorting machines from facilities around the country without any official explanation or reason given... In many cases, these are the same machines that would be tasked with sorting ballots."

8/14/2020 RYAN, Timothy J. (1294381418810834947)

Trump is tilting the election in his favor right before our eyes-stay vigilant. Don't let Democracy die. Reply and tag your elected officials. The U.S. Postal Service is planning to remove about 15% of letter sorting machines it uses around the country, meaning 502 will be taken out of service, according to documents obtained by Motherboard.

8/14/2020 MENG, Grace (1294383210865074177)

8/14/2020 MOULTON, Seth (1294387815070027787)

Trump has made it clear that he will do everything in his power to steal this election-whether soliciting foreign help or sabotaging the postal service. NEW: @jacobbogage got USPS data showing at least 671 USPS mail sorting machines have been removed across the country since June. Represents a reduction in national mail sorting capacity of 21.4 million pieces of mail per hour.

8/15/2020 HOYER, Steny Hamilton (1294437569984368642)

With regard to voting, President Trump has blocked Postal Service funding and appointed a partisan Postmaster General who is working to slow down mail processing and delivery so that ballots mailed even well in advance of Election Day cannot reach boards of election in time. In his pathological attempt to gain an electoral advantage by sabotaging the U.S. Postal Service, President Trump is putting at risk the health and well-being of veterans, seniors, and rural Americans who rely on the Postal Service

Here it is. The ultimate goal of Donald Trump's efforts to dismantle the USPS. There are 46 states where voters could be disenfranchised because ballots arrive too late to be counted. Unacceptable. We must fully fund USPS and remove DeJoy immediately.

Once again, @realDonaldTrump is lying to the American people. His fight with @USPS is more about trying to create chaos about the election than service. If you are mad, work to remove him from office. Despots & wannabe dictators gotta go. (Rest assured, we are working on this!) The USPS handles 3 billion pieces of mail in the week before Christmas. An election won't be a problem - as long as DeJoy lets postal workers do our job! #SaveThePostOffice #APWUnited #PostalStrong

Every state Attorney General should be looking at what crimes trump, dejoy, and the other gangsters in this government are committing to destroy the post office and rig the election. CT Attorney General: "I am actively engaged in discussions with attorneys general across the nation to mount a vigorous legal defense of our postal service and the legitimacy of our election."

8/15/2020 LEVIN, Mike (1294701732191076352)

We must fight to protect the US Postal Service and the integrity of our elections with every means necessary - via legislation, in the courts, and in the court of public opinion. Trump's sabotage of the USPS must not be allowed to stand.

8/15/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1294711965022146560)

.@taylorswift13 is right which is why yesterday I made a criminal referral to our state Attorney General asking him to empanel a grand jury to look at subversion of New Jersey election laws by trump, louis dejoy, and other trump officials in their arson of the post office. Trump's calculated dismantling of USPS proves one thing clearly: He is WELL AWARE that we do not want him as our president. He's chosen to blatantly cheat and put millions of Americans' lives at risk in an effort to hold on to power.

8/15/2020 McGOVERN, James P. (1294738571564331008)

"When Trump doesn't like the numbers coming in, he stops counting." State election officials across the country should read this. 8/17/2020 ADAMS, Alma (1295397462719569922)

Thanks for joining the call! #SaveUSPS Postmaster DeJoy must go. He is aiding Trump in an effort to steal this election & putting millions who rely on the mail at risk.

8/17/2020 MENENDEZ, Robert (1295423840361811970)

Americans have been voting by mail for generations-it's time-tested and secure. But Trump is afraid if Americans are able to vote fairly and securely in November, he'll lose.

#DontMessWithUSPS Donald Trump has told us straight-up: he's risking the health and safety of Americans with attacks on USPS just to block universal mail-in voting in November. Scared, much? #DontMessWithUSPS

8/17/2020 VAN HOLLEN, Christopher (1295443412318072834)

Instead of containing the virus, Trump is trying to manipulate the Postal Service to cheat in the election. As I said outside the Baltimore USPS Center today with postal workers, union leaders, and other public officials, we must act to end this abuse of power.

#SaveThePostOffice

8/17/2020 NAPOLITANO, Grace Flores (1295446158651817986)

We can't let President Trump dismantle the USPS in the run-up to an election where mail-in ballots will be vital to ensuring Americans can safely exercise their right to vote! Congress must protect the USPS and the integrity of our elections! #DontMessWithUSPS

8/17/2020 WYDEN, Ronald Lee (1295446257201119233)

I joined top Senate Dems calling on the @USPS Board of Governors to reverse changes made by Trump's Postmaster General. Trump and DeJoy are sabotaging the Postal Service to undermine confidence in our elections. They must be held accountable.

8/17/2020 DURBIN, Richard Joseph (1295447338077609985)

91% of Americans support @USPS. It's time to tell President Trump to stop manipulating the Postal Service for his political purposes. Will any Republicans join Democrats in standing up for @USPS?

8/17/2020 BUTTERFIELD, George Kenneth, Jr. (G.K.) (1295452918213222402)

8/18/2020 LYNCH, Stephen F. (1295722308498329600)

Postmaster General DeJoy is orchestrating this disaster at the direction of the President and I await hearing his response to these truths at our @OversightDems hearing next week. #DontMessWithUSPS it is clear that the intent is to sabotage the upcoming election that will rely heavily on vote-by-mail due to the unprecedented coronavirus pandemic. The USPS has been working reliably for 230 years, and after only a couple months under PMG DeJoy they cannot deliver the mail

8/18/2020 McGOVERN, James P. (1295724884543377410)

"This is an emergency for our democracy. If this president can abuse the power of his office to cheat in an election, then guess what: any president after him will be able to get away with the same thing." LIVE NOW: I'm hosting a press conference in Shrewsbury to talk about the Trump Administration's attempt to undermine our democracy by sabotaging the USPS. Tune in here:

8/18/2020 ROUDA, Harley (1295749778744254477)

He worked with the Russians to throw the 2016 election. He admitted that he's destroying the @USPS to throw the 2020 election. President Trump isn't just a con man - he's a threat to our Constitution.

8/18/2020 KHANNA, Rohit (1295751055708319744)

While Trump votes by absentee, he opposes a bailout for USPS so that you can't vote safely in November. We must bailout USPS and push for universal mail-in ballots throughout America.

8/18/2020 MALONEY, Carolyn Boshier (1295752485576093696)

PMG DeJoy's "operational changes" at #USPS are voter disenfranchisement, plain and simple. At my Aug 24 @oversightdems hearing w PMG DeJoy, I WILL get answers.

8/18/2020 WYDEN, Ronald Lee (1295765469207638016)

Senate Democrats have been pushing for Postmaster General DeJoy to testify about Trump's ongoing Postal Service sabotage. The American people deserve answers about Trump's ongoing schemes to undermine the @USPS and confidence in our elections.

8/18/2020 BONAMICI, Suzanne (1295770163984257024)

Trump's manipulation of USPS is outrageous. It's a blatant attempt to disenfranchise voters, but it will also delay the delivery of critical prescription drugs, cost vets their jobs, disrupt business & more. This week the House will pass legislation to #SaveUSPS #DontMessWithUSPS

8/18/2020 LIEU, Ted (1295774805820547074)

Republicans want you to believe it's a COINCIDENCE that (1) @realDonaldTrump doesn't want vote by mail & (2) Postmaster General DeJoy & the @USPS Board of Governors happen to be massively slowing mail delivery that will affect mail-in ballots right before a presidential election.

8/18/2020 McGOVERN, James P. (1295779386818473991)

The USPS has started removing mail sorting machines from postal facilities - including at least 12 right in Massachusetts - right before the election. This is an emergency for our democracy. #DontMessWithUSPS Donald Trump is trying to cheat in the election by sabotaging the USPS. He tried to get Russia & Ukraine to tip the scales in his favor. 8/18/2020 JAYAPAL, Pramila (1295779739483987968)

Trump and his postmaster general have launched a coordinated campaign to take away the ability for USPS to deliver ballots, literally working to commit vote theft. There's no other term for it. But we'll do everything in our power to fight back-and win.

That is why today, I am calling for the resignation of Postmaster General DeJoy. He has shown that he is acting not in the best interests of the American people, but in the interests of Donald J. 8/18/2020 McGOVERN, James P. (1295804264246390791)

Postmaster General DeJoy has still not addressed his conflicts of interest or whether he will reverse the changes he already made. But he should know this: we are watching his every move, and we will not let him get away with sabotaging the USPS to help his boss win the election. Because they got caught red-handed trying to cheat. If there's one thing I've learned about this president and his accomplices, it's that they have no problem lying to the press, lying to the American people, and breaking their promises. #DontMessWithUSPS

There is no rational explanation that any mail sorting machines would be secretly thrown in the trash. On the heels of Pres. Trump's assertion that he was deliberately blocking support to USPS, this report raises further question the admin's attempts to destabilize our elections. Two mail sorting machines capable of handling thousands of pieces of mail per hour have been removed, dismantled at the Scarborough #Maine USPS processing center, in keeping with the postmaster general's changes that have drawn widespread outrage.

8/19/2020 BEYER, Donald Sternoff Jr. (1296196490751127553)

Trump admitted he was sabotaging the US Postal Service to stop people from voting in a televised interview on FoxNews. It was even on a channel you guys actually watch Speaker Pelosi announced she is bringing Congress back for an "emergency" weekend session to deal with a so-called crisis at the @USPS. But here are the FACTS, which prove that Democrats are manipulating information in order to push a conspiracy theory.

8/19/2020 SMITH, Tina (1296202357328486401)

Let's be clear-Postmaster General DeJoy admitting that he is meddling with the Postal Service is another example of playing politics with American lives. Congress, we cannot allow this to happen-we must keep up the fight. Big development in the hearing so far: DeJoy has now committed to processing election mail as first class mail regardless of the postage used. CNN had obtained docs showing that this year USPS planned to treat election mail as marketing mail (slower) if it was mailed that way.

slowed mail service, despite Postmaster General DeJoy's pledge to pause the initiatives until after the election.

During this pandemic, when President Trump should be working to save the lives and livelihoods of Americans, his administration is trying to suppress the vote. His relentless attacks on the USPS and #votebymail should concern all of us.

8/29/2020 COONS, Christopher A. (1299520016929480705)

.@CommonCauseDE and I agree that we need to take action to ensure that our elections this fall are safe, secure, and accessible. Read our op-ed in @delawareonline to learn what we believe needs to be done: During this pandemic, when President Trump should be working to save the lives and livelihoods of Americans, his administration is trying to suppress the vote. His relentless attacks on the USPS and #votebymail should concern all of us.

8/29/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1299774249020928001)

Trump was impeached for extorting a foreign government to rig our elections and is currently destroying the Post Office to do the same. Every single republican in Congress supports this. The republican party is unfit to govern and a threat to democracy. BREAKING: A sr administration official tells CNN that the Office of the Director of National Intelligence has informed the House/Senate Select Committees on Intelligence that ODNI will no longer be briefing them on election security issues in person - instead: written updates.

8/31/2020 DEMINGS, Valdez Butler (1300527900186288129)

Make sure your vote counts this year. In Florida, your ballot must be RECEIVED, not sent, by election day. With President Trump trying to rig the election by sabotaging the USPS, vote as early as possible to ensure your vote is counted.

8/31/2020 SARBANES, John (1300574231512653825)

Today, I joined @OversightDems in issuing a subpoena to Postmaster General DeJoy and the @USPS Board of Governors, requiring them to produce documents related to the Trump Administration's efforts to delay mail delivery and sabotage election mail.

8/31/2020 SARBANES, John (1300574233362411521)

The Postmaster General has ignored our numerous requests to provide relevant information and communications detailing his harmful operational changes to the U.S. Postal Service. He must immediately produce these documents and comply with our committee's requests. In the meantime, we will continue to follow the facts and get to the bottom of the Trump Administration's scheme to disrupt mail delivery and upend election mail across the country. The Postmaster General has ignored our numerous requests to provide relevant information and communications detailing his harmful operational changes to the U.S. Postal Service. He must immediately produce these documents and comply with our committee's requests.

Trump disabled mailboxes when he aimed at ballot boxes. Learn how to vote safely here: "Friday, June 12, 2020, I received by mail a letter from the IRS informing me that I owed...additional interest. The notice date on the letter was April 20, 2020. The payment due date was May 11, 2020, and but I didn't receive the letter until June 12."

Trump wants to sabotage the Postal Service - endangering the lives of countless Americans who receive their prescriptions by mail - in an attempt to rig the election in November. Not if I have anything to do with it!

9/2/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1301137488996700160)

After extorting a foreign govt to attack our elections and wrecking the Post Office to rig the election, the trump regime is blocking warnings of Russian election interference. The pattern is trump is assaulting our democracy. DHS withheld publication of intelligence bulletin warning of Russian scheme to push "allegations about the poor mental health" of Joe Biden, per emails and document draft obtained by @ABC.

9/3/2020 MOORE, Gwendolynne S. (Gwen) (1301613772814069760)

President Trump has encouraged people to vote twice, even though it's illegal. His Admin. has sabotaged the USPS. Voter suppression is the tool this Admin. is trying to use to win the election. Stay woke and make sure you are registered to vote.

"...I haven't received at least 2 checks that were likely sent weeks ago. I have lived in my home for 31 years and have never experienced this kind of service." #DontMessWithUSPS (2/2) Neighbors continue to express concerns about the harm Trump has done to our Postal Service in his attempt to suppress voting by mail. One Austinite advises: "I run my own business and most of that is with 3 main companies all of whom pay me through the mail..all local..." (1/2)

DeJoy and @realDonaldTrump are on a mission to destroy USPS to prevent Americans from voting. They need to answer for themselves immediately.

9/9/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1303714367452729344)

Trump and dejoy are destroying the Post Office to rig the election for trump and they don't care how many lives they endanger to do it. new senate report: "All of the mail-order pharmacies that are heavily reliant on USPS for delivery of mail-order drugs reported an increase in average delivery times, ranging from 18-32%"

9/12/2020 KHANNA, Rohit (1304828699578175490)

DeJoy cannot be left in charge of the 2020 election. We're about to have a historic number of mail-in ballots - there's no room for partisan sabotage.

9/15/2020 BROWN, Sherrod (1305956898680852481)

And all of this is happening while President Trump and Postmaster DeJoy are sabotaging our postal system and delaying mail delivery. Don't let ANYONE discourage you from voting. Your vote counts, and I'll keep fighting to ensure all Ohioans can cast their ballots safely. We also asked LaRose to use his authority to prepay return postage on ballots. Instead, he REFUSED and passed the buck to the Ohio Controlling Board, who then rejected the proposal.

9/17/2020 CONNOLLY, Gerald E. (Gerry) (1306692812038189058)

To everyone except DeJoy, the Board of Governors, and congressional Republicans, the changes at the USPS are evidence of deliberate, political sabotage, and massive voter suppression on the eve of the election. This court decision is a win for democracy and every American voter. #BREAKING: our coalition prevailed in the case against the #USPS, with the court entering a nationwide injunction to protect the delivery of the mail and our Vote at Home election system.

9/17/2020 COOPER, James Hayes Shofner (1306697481607155718)

"A federal judge...granted a request from 14 states to block operational changes within the USPS... saying President Trump & Postmaster General DeJoy are 'involved in a politically motivated attack on the efficiency of the Postal Service' that could disrupt the 2020 election." Federal judge issues temporary injunction against U.S. Postal Service operational changes amid concerns about mail slowdowns

9/17/2020 JAYAPAL, Pramila (1306732564585959424)

Proud to be in this fight alongside @AGOWA. We will not stand by as DeJoy and the Trump administration attempt to sabotage the USPS and our democracy. I'll continue doing everything in my power to ensure postal service operations are fully restored and mail delivery is protected.

9/18/2020 LIEU, Ted (1306819105245204480)

Last month @RepJeffries and I made a criminal referral to the @FBI to investigate DeJoy and the @USPS Board. It is a crime to slow mail service to affect federal elections. Based on the language in this federal court ruling, we are right. We fully expect the FBI to do its duty.

9/18/2020 TESTER, Jon (1307013631150882816)

It's clear that DeJoy intentionally delayed mail delivery of Montanan's essentials to try and help his political cronies. This decision means folks can rest a little easier knowing a return to regular mail delivery is on its way. This decision is more than just a win for our nation's election integrity—it's a win for the folks in rural America that have seen their prescriptions, Social Security benefits, and more delayed due to DeJoy's politically-motivated policy changes at @USPS.

9/30/2020 LEE, Barbara (1311132177732644866)

Trump did everything in his power to drown out vote-by-mail - the safest way to cast ballots during this pandemic. When that didn't work, he tried to shut down the post office. It's proof that Trump will go to any length to suppress your vote.

10/5/2020 PAPPAS, Chris (1313207673211453443)

RT @LucasSMeyer: "We need to make to very clear that the @USPS is not for sale." - @ChrisPappasNH at @APWUNational endorsement. Chris has been on the frontlines of the fight to push back against the Trump admins efforts to damage the postal service ahead of the election.

10/20/2020 TORRES, Ritchie (1318638063933923333)

.@realDonaldTrump is intent on sabotaging the @USPS & delegitimizing vote-by-mail. Our voting system is broken. We need to reimagine elections for the 21st century w. mobile voting. Mobile voting has been successful in 6 states & should be available to more voters.

10/27/2020 MERKLEY, Jeff (1321156525696688130)

DeJoy & Trump waited for the outrage to subside... ..and now they've resumed their attacks on the #USPS & our democracy. You can fight back by ensuring that your vote is counted. If you haven't mailed it, drop your ballot off. Do it today. Don't let them win. US Postal Service on-time delivery times for First-Class Mail have dropped again - now nearly as bad as the worst period this summer. If you are voting absentee and haven't returned your ballot, experts say drop it off in person. Do not rely on #USPS delivery at this point.

11/23/2020 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1330683365360594945)

Exhibit F: Sabotaging the Post Office. Trump and his Postmaster General have attacked USPS to deliberately delay Americans' mail and subvert the election. Exhibit E: Spending taxpayer money to break the law. For now 599 days, trump has used the government to illegally keep his tax returns hidden from Congress's legally-binding request.

1/4/2021 PASCRELL, William J., Jr. (1345908375830323205)

Wrecking the Post Office. Trump and his Postmaster General sabotaged USPS to deliberately delay Americans' mail and subvert the election. Vote rigging. After making countless lies about nonexistent systematic voter fraud, Trump tried to extort the top Georgia election official to overturn the election.
